Q24 Understanding Check

Question. Two agents have equal task completion. What two additional measurements could make one preferable for a production deployment?

Expected answer. Examples: cost/latency, intervention rate, constraint violations, failure severity, reliability across task slices. The answer must relate them to a declared deployment contract.

Diagnoses the misconception that a single completion rate is a complete agent-quality measure.